

Quick Modifications List:

- Change font to a more sharp, blockier sans serif.
- Include a title for the homepage banner, maybe some kind of generic
- Include a black and white logo in navbar, usable as a sort of "home" button that takes you to the homepage
- Expand the sections of each banner page, each image should ideally take up the entire screen as a background
- Include a dark-themed footer containing navigation

Meeting notes:

The overall choice of images were great and fit well with each theme. The variance of colors was perfect (I especially liked the brighter purple/orange sky with the dish antenna photo).

Several changes to note: changing the font to a more cut, blockier sans serif. Making the font-weight a bit larger on like headers and the navigation bar would be good.

Also do include some kind of centered title in the intro banner page, could just be generic statement like "communications in spacecraft".

A black and white logo in the navbar as a homepage button.

Expanding the height of each banner page section, ideally each image should be desktop quality and take up the entire screen in the page as a background image.

Include a simple footer in the bottom of the page containing navigation. Preferably the page should fade into the navbar's color (i.e. image, if any, should have a gradient fade into the navbar or the background of the navbar should just match the color of the page's background).
